

T.RowePrice | Foundation

Frequently Asked Questions

About:

The T. Rowe Price Foundation (Foundation) was established in 1981 to support nonprofit organizations and strengthen the communities where T. Rowe Price associates live and work. With a priority focus on our headquarters in Baltimore, Maryland, as well as other communities where we have a meaningful associate presence, we seek to harness the collective power of T. Rowe Price and its associates to create lasting community impact.

The Foundation is dedicated to supporting nonprofit organizations whose work aligns with our focus on financial well-being and thriving communities, including youth development, arts and culture, and innovation. The Foundation also provides nonprofit capacity-building opportunities for the broader nonprofit community.

The Foundation, in partnership with T. Rowe Price, creates meaningful opportunities for associates to engage in their communities and provides support to nonprofit organizations aligned with our corporate priorities. Through long-term partnerships, we build strong relationships that help drive sustainable, measurable impact.

Contact Information:

Email: trowepricefoundation@troweprice.com

Website: troweprice.com/foundation

Does the T. Rowe Price Foundation accept unsolicited grant proposals?

The T. Rowe Price Foundation primarily operates through an invitation-based grantmaking process, inviting organizations whose work aligns closely with our strategic priorities.

While we do not have an open application process, organizations may submit information about their programs and priorities through our inquiry form.

What is your average grant size?

The T. Rowe Price Foundation awards grants across a range of funding levels. Grant amounts vary based on factors such as the scope of the work, the level of alignment with our priorities, and the potential for community impact.

What does your funding focus on?

The T. Rowe Price Foundation focuses its grantmaking on communities where T. Rowe Price associates live and work, including Baltimore; Colorado Springs, Colorado; New York; and San Francisco.

As a place-based funder, we support nonprofit organizations whose work aligns with our focus on advancing financial well-being and supporting thriving communities. Priority areas include youth development, arts and culture, and innovation.

Do you support nonprofit event sponsorships?

The T. Rowe Price Foundation does not provide funding for event sponsorships.

Event sponsorships may be considered through other Community Investment initiatives at T. Rowe Price. Organizations interested in learning more are encouraged to email us at community.investment@troweprice.com.

What is your nonprofit capacity-building program?

Our nonprofit capacity-building program offers learning opportunities, events, trainings, and organizational health assessment tools at no cost to any nonprofit staff and nonprofit board members.

- Sign up to receive emails: www.trowepricemeetings.com/capacitybuilding
- Upcoming webinars and events: www.trowepricemeetings.com/nonprofitcapacitybuilding

How can I submit a general inquiry or letter of interest to the T. Rowe Price Foundation?

You can submit a general inquiry form online. This form is monitored by our team on a regular basis.

Besides grant funding, what are additional ways that a nonprofit or community partner can get involved with the T. Rowe Price Foundation and/or the firm's Community Investment team?Associate Matching Gifts and Volunteerism

T. Rowe Price rewards associate philanthropy and volunteer service through matching gifts and volunteer rewards throughout the year. The firm offers a generous 1:1 match to donations made to eligible nonprofits. To be eligible to receive matching gifts, please register and verify your organization at www.benevity.org, our matching gift platform.

Nonprofit Board Service

Many T. Rowe Price associates contribute their time and expertise through nonprofit board service. To support this engagement, the firm offers board training and matching opportunities for Maryland-based associates through Business Volunteers Maryland. Nonprofits interested in learning more about volunteer engagement opportunities may contact the Community Investment team at community.investment@troweprice.com.