MARKET COMMENTARY

U.S. equities advanced in March, capping a strong quarter that lifted several broad indexes to all-time highs. As measured by various Russell indexes, mid-cap equities fared best, followed by small-caps and large-caps. Value outperformed growth in all market capitalizations. Within the S&P 500, energy led returns, followed by utilities and materials. All sectors advanced, with consumer discretionary lagging and producing a modest positive return.

Investors remained optimistic about the corporate profit potential stemming from advances in artificial intelligence (AI) and were encouraged by the outcome of the Federal Reserve's mid-March monetary policy meeting. Although the central bank kept short-term interest rates steady, policymakers maintained their year-end 2023 "dot plot" projections for three quarter-point interest rate cuts by the end of 2024 despite recent upticks in inflation readings.

Considering this optimism is largely priced in to equities, we believe it is important to monitor macroeconomic and exogenous factors that could provide signs that expectations are too high.

These risks include the potential for the oil market to tighten, for services inflation to remain elevated, and for dovish monetary policy to renew inflationary pressures. As active, long-term investors, we believe the current market environment presents myriad opportunities to utilize our comprehensive research platforms and unlock value.

The Fund's total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any.

Prior to 5 April 2023, the name of the Integrated U.S. Small-Cap Growth Equity Fund was the QM U.S. Small-Cap Growth Equity Fund.

The fund is subject to the risks of stock investing, including possible loss of principal. The fund's strategy relies heavily on quantitative models to analyze data and construct investment portfolios. Relying on these models entails the risk that the models themselves may be limited or incorrect, that the data the models rely on may be incorrect or incomplete, and that the adviser may not be successful in selecting companies for investment or determining the weighting of particular stocks.

The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

(12 months ended March 31, 2024)

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. All numbers are percentages. Analysis represents the total performance of the portfolio as calculated by the FactSet attribution model and is inclusive of other assets. Non-equity positions are excluded from structure shown. Returns will not match official T. Rowe Price performance because FactSet uses different exchange rate sources and does not capture intra-day trading. Performance for each security is obtained in the local currency and, if necessary, is converted to USD using an exchange rate determined by an independent third party. Figures are shown with gross dividends reinvested. Sources: Financial data and analytics provider FactSet. Copyright 2024 FactSet. All Rights Reserved. MSCI/S&P GICS Sectors; Analysis by T. Rowe Price. T. Rowe Price uses the current MSCI/S&P Global Industry Classification Standard (GICS) for sector and industry reporting. Figures are shown gross of fees. Returns would be lower as a result of the deduction of such fees. Performance returns are in USD.

Definitions

Active Share is a holdings based measure of active management representing the percentage of a portfolio's holdings that differ from those in its benchmark. Compared to tracking error, which measures the standard deviation of the difference in a manager's returns versus the Benchmark returns, Active Share allows investors to get a clearer understanding of what a manager is doing to drive performance, rather than drawing conclusions from observed returns. The greater the difference between the asset composition of a product and its benchmark, the greater the active share is.
