Investment Objective & Strategy

The fund seeks long-term growth of capital.

The fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (including any borrowings for investment purposes) in stocks issued by companies in emerging markets.

The fund expects to make most of its investments in stocks of companies located in, or that have economic ties to, the emerging markets countries in Asia, Latin America, Europe, Africa, and the Middle East.

Stock selection is driven mainly by fundamental research that seeks to identify companies that appear to be undervalued by various measures and may be temporarily out of favor but have good prospects for capital appreciation or dividend growth.

Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The Fund's total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any.

The T. Rowe Price Fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class (incepted 9/14/15) up to the inception date of the I Class (3/6/17) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher.

The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

Risks: Emerging markets: Investments in emerging market countries are subject to greater risk and overall volatility than investments in the U.S. and other developed markets. Sector exposure: Issuers in the same economic sector may be similarly affected by economic or market events, making the fund more vulnerable to unfavorable developments in that economic sector than funds that invest more broadly. See the prospectus for more detail on the fund's principal risks.
