The Fund's broad multi-asset class opportunity set includes developed markets and emerging markets equities, a wide range of global developed markets and emerging markets bond strategies, and various diversifying strategies that aim to improve risk-adjusted returns.

The Fund can tactically overweight and underweight asset classes from their normal allocation. The Fund's normal allocation is approximately 60% equities, 30% global fixed income including exposure to below-investment-grade securities, and 10% alternative investments.

Tactical decisions are based on a detailed assessment of cross-asset valuations and global capital markets conditions. Tactical decisions may change the risk profile of the fund.
