INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks high current income and, secondarily, capital appreciation.

Invest primarily in floating-rate bank loans (also known as leveraged loans) and other floating-rate debt securities with below investment-grade credit ratings.

Broadly diversified across 200-300 issuers, with strict exposure limits to manage risk.

At least 80% of assets are invested in floating-rate bank loans and corporate senior floating-rate notes issued by companies rated below investment grade.

A maximum of 20% of assets can be invested in fixed-rate debt securities, including high-yield bonds.

BENEFITS AND RISKS

The floating-rate feature virtually eliminates interest rate risk.

Bank loans typically rank higher in the capital structure for repayment.

Low historical return correlations with other asset classes, including high-yield bonds, make bank loans a diversifier for equity and fixed-income portfolios.

The loans and debt securities held by the fund are usually considered speculative and involve a greater risk of default and price decline than higher-rated bonds.

This fund could have greater price declines than a fund that invests primarily in high-quality bonds or loans.

Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, visit troweprice.com. The T. Rowe Price fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class up to the inception date of the I Class (11/29/16) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher. The average annual total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any.

The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

Definitions

Beta: A measure of market risk of an investment option that shows how responsive the investment is to a given market index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments. Figures are calculated using monthly data and are net of fees.

Credit ratings for the securities held in the Fund are provided by Moody's and Standard & Poor's and are converted to the Standard & Poor's nomenclature. A rating of "AAA" represents the highest-rated securities, and a rating of "D" represents the lowest-rated securities. Split ratings (e.g., BB/B and B/CCC) are assigned when Moody's and S&P differ. If a rating is not available, the security is classified as Not Rated (NR). The rating of the underlying investment vehicle is used to determine the creditworthiness of credit default swaps and sovereign securities. The Fund is not rated by any agency. U.S. Government Agency securities may include conventional pass-through securities and collateralized mortgage obligations. This category may include rated and unrated securities.
