INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks to provide high income and some capital appreciation.

Uses an asset allocation strategy to build a broadly diversified portfolio of domestic and foreign debt instruments, including government and corporate bonds; mortgage-backed, commercial mortgage-backed, and asset-backed securities; and preferred stocks.

May invest up to 65% of assets in noninvestment-grade securities and up to 40% in non-U.S. dollar-denominated foreign securities, including those from emerging market countries.

Fund's weighted average maturity is expected to be between four and 15 years.

BENEFITS AND RISKS

Offers higher yield potential than money market or shorter-term bond funds but with more volatility.

If interest rates rise significantly from current levels, bond fund total returns will decline and may even turn negative in the short term. High-yield bonds carry greater default risk than higher-rated bonds with greater liquidity risk.

To the extent the fund holds foreign bonds, it will be subject to special risks. Investments in emerging markets are subject to the risk of abrupt and severe price declines.

This fund and short-term bond funds involve more risk than a money market mutual fund and are not subject to the same diversification and maturity standards. The net asset value (NAV) will fluctuate and investing in these products could result in a loss of principal.

CUMULATIVE RETURNS

Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, visit troweprice.com. The T. Rowe Price fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class up to the inception date of the I Class (3/23/16) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher. The average annual total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any.

The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

*Effective October 1, 2018, the benchmark for the Fund changed to the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Bond USD Hedged Index. Prior to this change, the benchmark was the Bloomberg Multiverse Index USD Hedged. Prior to February 1, 2017, the benchmark was the Bloomberg Global Aggregate ex Treasury Bond USD Hedged Index. Historical benchmark representations have not been restated.

^oExcludes the effect of contractual expense limitation arrangements. If the expense waiver was not in effect for the 30-Day period shown, there may not be a difference in the 30-day SEC yields shown above.

*U.S. Treasury securities are issued by the U.S. Treasury and are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government. The ratings of U.S. Treasury securities are derived from the ratings on the U.S. government.

U.S. government agency securities are issued or guaranteed by a U.S. government agency, and may include conventional pass-through securities and collateralized mortgage obligations; unlike Treasuries, government agency securities are not issued directly by the U.S. government and are generally unrated but may have credit support from the U.S. Treasury (e.g., FHLMC and FNMA issues) or a direct government guarantee (e.g., GNMA issues). Therefore, this category may include rated and unrated securities.

Definitions

Beta: A measure of market risk of an investment option that shows how responsive the investment is to a given market index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments. Figures are calculated using monthly data and are net of fees.
