INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks long-term capital growth and current income primarily through investments in non-U.S. stocks.

Focus on companies with favorable prospects for capital appreciation that exhibit value characteristics.

Broadly diversify, primarily among the world's developed countries.

Securities are chosen based on "bottom-up" research.

Country allocation is driven largely by stock selection.

BENEFITS AND RISKS

Broader investment opportunity—the world's best companies are not only in the United States.

Over long periods, international investing offers diversification benefits relative to an all-U.S. portfolio. Of course, diversification cannot assure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market.

Dividend income can help limit downside risk.

Investing internationally involves special risks, including economic and political uncertainty and currency fluctuation.

CUMULATIVE RETURNS

Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, visit troweprice.com. The T. Rowe Price fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class up to the inception date of the I Class (8/28/15) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher. The average annual total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any. The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

Definitions

Beta: A measure of market risk of an investment option that shows how responsive the investment is to a given market index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments. Figures are calculated using monthly data and are net of fees.

Morningstar rated the fund 4 and 4 stars among 338 and 316 Foreign Large Value funds for the 3- and 5-year periods (as applicable) ending 3/31/2024, respectively.
