INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in mid-sized companies that appear to be undervalued.

The fund will normally invest at least 80% of its net assets in companies whose market capitalization falls within the range of companies in the S&P MidCap 400 Index or the Russell Midcap Value Index.

The fund focuses on companies with the following:

- Attractive operating margins
- Sound balance sheet and financial management
- Stock ownership by management

BENEFITS AND RISKS

Mid-cap companies may be more responsive and better able to adapt to the changing needs of their markets than large companies.

Medium-sized companies tend to have greater resources and, therefore, typically less risk than small companies.

The stocks of mid-cap companies entail greater risk and are usually more volatile than the shares of large companies.

Performance data quoted represents past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, visit troweprice.com. The T. Rowe Price fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class up to the inception date of the I Class (8/28/15) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher. The average annual total return figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any.

The fund(s) may have other share classes available that offer different investment minimums and fees. See the prospectus for details.

Definitions

Beta: A measure of market risk of an investment option that shows how responsive the investment is to a given market index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments. Figures are calculated using monthly data and are net of fees.
