⁽²⁾Wrap Fees are estimated on an annualized basis. They make up fees paid to issuers of the SICs and SACs held by the Trust and custody fees on underlying assets. These fees are paid from underlying assets of the SIC or SAC and reduce the respective contract's crediting rate, thereby reducing interest income earned by the Trust. The Trust's average annual returns shown are net of these fees. Consistent with their accounting as a reduction of income, wrap fees are not included in computing the Trust's annual operating expense ratio as calculated per 29 CFR § 2550.408b-2.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Performance figures reflect the deduction of the applicable annual trustee fee, which is used primarily to pay normal operating expenses of the Trust, including custodial, accounting and investment management fees. Figures include any changes in principal and reinvested dividends. All returns are historical and do not represent future performance. When assessing performance, investors should consider both short-term and long-term returns.

Risks: Stable Value: Although the T. Rowe Price Stable Value Common Trust Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per unit, it cannot guarantee to do so. It is possible to lose money by investing in the trust. Liquidity: Because the trust's investments are not actively traded in the open market and generally must be held until maturity, there is a risk that, like any investment, one or more of the trust's holdings could fail to make scheduled interest and principal payments prior to maturity, potentially reducing the trust's income level and causing a loss of principal. See the offering circular for more detail on the trust's principal risks.

Investors should note that if interest rates rise significantly from current levels, total returns will decline and may even turn negative in the short term. The Trust is subject to risks of fixed income investing, including interest rate risk and credit risk.
